Client Challenge

An AMLaw 100 firm needed document review and production assistance for a high profile, complex bankruptcy dispute. The client indicated the deadline for the project would be tight – only 12 days to complete the review and produce all documents. However, the next day, a Friday, the judge surprised counsel by ordering them to produce all documents by midnight the following Tuesday, giving them 4 days to complete the review, redaction, and production.

Consilio Response

Rallying a top-notch review team on shockingly short notice, Consilio worked day and night over the weekend, to review documents for responsiveness and redact confidential and privileged information. Utilizing Consilio's powerful eDiscovery platform with combined analytics, customizable workflows and intelligent dashboards, the team was able to better control the review schedule to keep the project on time and budget.

Results Achieved

The review team completed the review and redaction portion on time and on budget. Consilio successfully met the seemingly impossible court-ordered deadline without compromising the quality of the review and processing.
